Academic Agreement to use Cambridge Structural Database System (CSD) at OSC

The Cambridge Structural Database System (CSD System) comprising all or some of the following: ConQuest, Quest, PreQuest, Mercury, VISTA, Mogul, IsoStar, SuperStar, CSD data file, CSD-UNITY, CSD-MDL, CSD-SDfile, CSD data updates, documentation and command procedures (each individually a Component) is a database and copyright work belonging to the Cambridge Crystallographic Data Centre (CCDC) and all rights are protected. Use of the CSD System is permitted solely in accordance with a valid License of Access Agreement and all Components included are proprietary. When a Component is supplied independently of the CSD System its use is subject to the conditions of the separate license. All persons accessing the CSD System or its Components should make themselves aware of the conditions contained in the License of Access Agreement or the relevant license.

In particular:

- * The CSD System and its Components are to be treated as confidential and may NOT be disclosed or re-distributed in any form, in whole or in part, to any third party.
- * Software or data derived from or developed using the CSD System may not be distributed without prior written approval of the CCDC. Such prior approval is also needed for joint projects between academic and for-profit organizations involving use of the CSD System.
- * The CSD System and its Components may be used for scientific research, including the design of novel compounds. Results may be published in the scientific literature, but each such publication must include an appropriate citation as indicated in the Schedule to the License of Access Agreement and on the CCDC website.
- * No representations, warranties, or liabilities are expressed or implied in the supply of the CSD System or its Components by CCDC, its servants or agents, except where such exclusion or limitation is prohibited, void or unenforceable under governing law.
